WATCH THE
NEW YORK CITY
MARATHON AT:

#1 Central Park

“Easy to get to and near the finish line.”

“Picturesque, close to the finish line.”

“Loeb Boathouse, inside Central Park. There’s nothing like being inside the park and feeling the energy of the runners while having quiet from the outside streets.”

“The finish line in Central Park, because you don’t have to wake up so early.”

HONORABLE MENTIONS

“2nd Avenue and the 59th Street Bridge. The runners cross the quiet bridge, then the impact of the cheering crowds, the bands and music greeting them.”

“Central Park South. The runners go through here before entering Central Park to the finish line. You get a good view of the marathon and, since it’s the last stretch of the race, you don’t need to get up early to see it.”

“By the Ritz Carlton or Plaza Hotel, because it is near the end of the course.”
